2 - Read the following, then answer the questions!

Long after the discovery of electricity, man found out that he could use the great power of water to produce electricity. At first, man used waterfalls from high mountains. This runs into wires and is treated before it is used in homes and factories. Dams have also been built along rivers in the world to make full use of the water, so it runs to the driest and least fertile lands to prepare them for farming. Now man uses the sun to produce electricity. Scientists never stop inventing new ways to produce energy which don't pollute the environment. Nowadays, the environment has become the main interest of both the people and the government to live healthy.
